

Developing Future Skills for Public Policy

Government Systems & Processes

- Organisational awareness
- Understanding the policy cycle
- Briefing decision-makers
- Cabinet & Legislative processes

Data Skills

- Data literacy
- Data management
- Data analysis
- Data linkage
- Programming
- Visualisation

Strategy, Policy & Evaluation

- Strategic analysis
- Critical thinking
- Environmental scanning
- Evidence-based decision-making
- Systems thinking
- Scenario planning

Implementation

- Project management
- Risk assessment
- Adaptive skills
- Transdisciplinary problem-solving

Engagement & Partnership

- Stakeholder engagement
- Co-Design
- Communication skills
- First Nations engagement
- Global literacy
- Language skills

Integrity & Leadership

- Professional conduct
- Collaboration
- Openness & inclusion
- Ethics
- Learning agility

The Australian National Internships Program

ANIP is a research intensive internship that gives undergraduate and postgraduate students unique access to the leading institutions of Australian policy-making and politics.

For over three decades, this elite program has provided a foundational experience for the careers of future leaders in government, politics, NGOs and the private sector.

Students from any academic discipline, from across Australia and overseas are eligible to apply for an ANIP internship.

Please visit our website for our application process and travel grants.

ANIP internships are available in:

- Commonwealth Parliament
- Commonwealth Government
- The ACT Legislative Assembly & ACT Government
- Embassies, Delegations and High Commissions
- Non-Government Organisations
- Think-Tanks and Research Centre

Application Deadlines:

30 April and 30 September

For further information

E internships@anu.edu.au
W anip.anu.edu.au

